FAIR PROGRAM

Greetings from FAIR!

Dear FAIR Friends,

As I write this, we have had some unmistakable summer temperatures, not to mention the summer storms, and it appears we are in a holding pattern that summer is in endless supply. However, the kids are back in school, fall is right around the corner, and the leaves will begin to change...

Speaking of change, it's inevitable, isn't it? It's not always bad; it usually just takes a bit of understanding, and often, time.

For example, by now you have noticed that Ashley no longer accompanies me on most of our trips. That's because her responsibilities have shifted slightly. She still handles all our payments and other operational/service aspects of the program, and you will still see her smiling face at our seminars and such, but she is kept busy with sponsorships and bank events that also fall under the Community Events and Outreach area of our department (think of all the things UBT does for its employees, customers and community – that's outreach). This makes it difficult for her to be out for an extended period, and we do like to party on those day trips!

This brings me to the name "Outreach." It is a better description of what we do, after all. Ashley and I have already begun using Outreach in our titles and eventually, the antiquated and somewhat inaccurate acronym of FAIR will go away, to be replaced with a new program name (no, we don't get to vote, I already asked, but it will still be good).

Other than Ashley's absence on our trips (I will miss her, too!), and eventually, a different name on our materials and website, what do these changes mean for you, our program participant? Absolutely nothing. Our program will still be in place and going strong, thanks to your loyalty and referrals. The quality of trips, education, and events will stay the same at the very least, and, quite possibly, there will be some enhancements on the horizon. Some will have to do with how you register for events, or pay for your trips, some may be with the trips themselves.

Much like the transition of summer into fall, which is also inevitable, your program is also in transition, and, while I don't have all the answers for you yet, I promise to keep you informed every step of the way. And Ashley? Please wish her well with her new responsibilities (and let her know how slow I am at passing out your water). Thank you for sticking around for another season.
